

1House At A Time Solar PV Installation Workshop

March 7, 2009 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.

The solar installation completed at this workshop will benefit a Meals on Wheels and More family to help them reduce their utility costs and improve their quality of life

Interested in learning about solar power? Seeking future employment in the booming solar industry? Or, are you a homeowner interested in installing solar photovoltaics on your own home?

Thanks to the generous support of Texas Solar Power Company (www.txspc.com), the 1House At A Time™ program will be offering a solar installation workshop that provides the opportunity to understand the basics of installing and operating a residential-scale grid-tied solar photovoltaic system and participate in an installation of a solar system benefiting a low-income client of Meals on Meals and More of Austin.

Attendees will learn how to:

- Implement energy efficiency & conservation strategies in their own home
- Perform load analysis for a home or business
- Identify system components: wire, disconnects, and over-current protection
- Identify & understand the differences between commercially available components: modules, inverters, and racks
- Learn the advantages / disadvantages of installing a solar photovoltaic system
- Complete a site & cost/benefit analysis & learn available financial incentives for your own home.

Special 'pilot' pricing for our March workshop!

Early Bird Pricing Available:
$100 before 3/1, $150 after 3/1

*Course includes a workbook, drinks and snacks as part of the tuition. Please pack a lunch.
